Termination

- The elongation steps are repeated until one of the three (UAA, UAG, UGA) termination or nonsense codons of mRNA appear in the 'A' site.
- Once the ribosome reaches a termination codon, releasing factors are capable of recognizing the termination signal present in the 'A' site.
- Prokaryotes have 3 release factors-RF1, RF2 & RF3
- Eukaryotes have only one release factor eRF.

Post-translational modification

In order to achieve native biologically active form of polypeptide, it must undergo processing and folding in proper three dimensional conformation. These alterations are known as post-translational modifications.

- Proteolytic cleavage
- Modification of amino acids
- Subunit aggregation
- Protein folding and chaperones
